LEGACY GIVING

LEAVING A LEGACY TO SOUTHBANK SINFONIA

Thank you for your interest in the 21st Century Circle, Southbank Sinfonia's legacy programme.

The future of SbS is bright, but maintaining a world-class orchestra will always be a financial challenge. Gifts, whether large or small, that result from SbS becoming a beneficiary of your estate, ensure that future generations of musicians can benefit from the SbS programme and audiences can continue to be inspired by an orchestra of exceptionally talented young players.

*“ Southbank Sinfonia deserves all of the support that we can give
it. It's important because it's nurturing great talent and sustaining the British orchestral tradition, which is an exciting challenge. ”*

JAMES NAUGHTIE
Presenter, BBC Proms
and Radio 4 Today

You can choose whether your legacy would assist us generally or in a specific way, for instance supporting our education and community work, adopting one of our talented players, or supporting Southbank Sinfonia's Endowment Fund. Income from the growing Endowment Fund aims to provide a secure artistic and financial future for the orchestra. SbS is a registered charity which means that your bequest is not liable for inheritance tax.

“ The existence of Southbank Sinfonia solves a very real problem for young and talented musicians. These young players are worthy of all the help and attention we can give them – their commitment to the pursuit of excellence is an inspiration “

IN MEMORIAM GIFTS

Each year Southbank Sinfonia benefits from generous donations made by relatives 'In Memoriam', perhaps as a result of requesting donations instead of flowers at a funeral or the desire to make a dedicated gift as a lasting tribute. Further details are available from the SbS office.

Please let us know if you have made a bequest to SbS and provide us with as much information as possible. This will allow us to plan for the future and, more importantly, provide us with the opportunity to thank you for your thoughtfulness and generosity.

An information pack is available from the SbS office which contains further details on how to make a bequest to the orchestra including important information for your solicitor and how to change an existing will.

If you would like an SbS bequest pack or any further information, please contact Stuart Angel*, SbS Development Director on 020 7921 0377 or stuart@southbanksinfonia.co.uk.
